COMMUNITY-BUILD PLAYGROUND EVENT AT NEW BEES LANDING RECREATION COMPLEX

The City of Charleston, in partnership with Hands On Charleston, is hosting a volunteer playground installation project this Saturday, March 13th, at the newly constructed Bees Landing Recreation Complex. This one-day project will result in the completion of the largest playground in the City's park system, with equipment that is unique to the area. Volunteers will be eligible for the Walt Disney "Give a Day, Get a Day" promotion if they are pre-registered through the Hands On website at www.handsoncharleston.org. This will likely be one of the last eligible projects for this very popular promotion, and participation is limited to the first 100 registered volunteers.

The event will last from 8 AM until 4 PM and registration is required if volunteers would like to be eligible for the Walt Disney promotion. Others are welcome to drop-in during the day.

Located at 1850 Ashley Gardens Boulevard, the new Bees Landing Recreation Complex is a wonderful new facility. The park provides a beautiful new gym and community center, six lighted tennis courts, three lighted ballfields, the new playground and a fenced dog run. The park is prominently located in the Grande Oaks community, and is conveniently accessible to residents in the West Ashley area. The Department of Recreation is in the process of hiring staff for the new park now, and the park facilities will be open soon. An official opening ceremony will be scheduled at a later date.
